The Community Center hosted 2 large and successful events in August. The Community Center Foundation Board hosted Friends Fest on August 18 and, despite some rain, the wine tasting event was well-attended. The Turbo Fundraiser hosted by the Backdoor Theater was also a huge success. In spite of the short lead time, the fundraising committee put together a silent auction and spaghetti dinner to raise the needed funds for the Backdoor Theater. The community showed their overwhelming support and the goal was met; they will receive $30,000 in grant money for their new digital projection equipment.

There will be several new offerings at the CC starting after the Labor Day weekend. Marianna Peterson of Complete Canine will offer dog obedience classes in the upper parking lot on Sunday afternoons. Angela Delsanter will add Mountain Players to her other popular classes. It is a children's theater workshop for 9- to 12-year-olds. Mountain Mondays and Winter Wednesdays will offer ski conditioning and educational games for 5th – 8th graders in the gymnasium and ski conditioning for adults will also be offered twice a week in Inspired Fitness Boot Camp. After school Tai Chi and Kung Fu for kids ages 10-17 is new this fall and will be offered twice a week by James Churches. Pickle Ball continues to grow in popularity and will become part of the weekly schedule at the Community Center. It is rewarding to see the Community Center fully utilized with such diverse activities.

Equipment failure in the kitchen has presented challenges to the tenants and the budget over the past week. The motors in both exhaust hoods need replacing, leaving the kitchen a very warm place to work while waiting for the proper parts. Everyone is making the best of the situation.
